Subject: Question on ARPANET policy enforcement

Steve,

We have just been reviewing the message you put out via tip netnews this week concerning the firming-up policies for ARPANET use after DCA transfer. Question: Should Project MAC initiate some action to establish that all of our present ARPANET attachments fall within the policies and approval exceptions, or will someone else initiate a review? We want to remain clean with respect to the policies, but we would also like to avoid surprises, such as discovery that something that we thought was legitimate must be turned off with only two hours notice.

It is good to see that the DCA transfer is going smoothly (at least it appears that way from the outside!)
