

WW5

- [1.] I would like to subdue the grunginess of my mathematics problem sets.
- [1.] In her autobiography, the famous star only mentioned the glamour side of her life.
- [1.] I hope I never have to reconcile myself to eat at MIT's dining facilities.
- [1.] A person would be considered eccentric if it loved the feeling of sleep deprivation.
- [1.] I invariably have difficulty being punctual, because I don't mind when others aren't.
- [1.] An antidote to envy is envy – of the Envid for the Ill of envy.
- [1.] A truly autonomous person is dead or is not – dependency is a necessity of life.
- [1.] The world needs an ingenious solution to the problem of human existence.
- [1.] Winter seems interminable when it freezes in the air of March.
- [1.] The exorbitant price of the car is the reason why the rich Sheikh bought it without haggling: the bargain was too easy to be pleasurable.

Nada Amin
March 21, 2002
21F.222 – WW5
namin@mit.edu

[1.]